

Jillian is a woman of trans experience who transitioned four years ago. She is an advocate for the transgender community, and speaks at various venues across New England, including libraries, schools, conferences, support groups and medical facilities. She has been a GSA (Gender & Sexualities Alliance) instructor for a high school in New Haven, is a mentor and has organized a support group for transgender youth. Jillian is pursuing her master's degree in social work in order to become a counselor for the transgender population. She is currently a social work intern at the Yale Gender Program in New Haven.

Program Description

My talk will be a comfortable and informal presentation to help educate people on what it means to be transgender and the challenges we face. This will be done by sharing my personal journey, victories and hardships. I will discuss:

- The coming out process
- The transition process (G-rated)
- The acceptance process
- Terms and definitions
- Right and wrong questions to ask other transgender people.
- Q & A at the end
